Rewriting Their Destiny from Ordinary Beginnings

Many people have transformed their lives through the network marketing business, and RCCA See Wei Ting (Jazz) and Ong Fu Quan (Brian) are shining examples of what is possible.

They were not born into privilege, nor did they excel academically. Like many ordinary people, they started with ordinary jobs and ordinary dreams. Yet through unwavering perseverance, relentless effort, and consistent action, they rewrote the course of their lives and created a future far beyond what they had once imagined.

BE Is A Business Where Families Build Success Together

If you've heard the inspiring story of RCCA See Kok Sen, who defied academic limitations to achieve success on the international stage, you'll be equally amazed to learn that his younger sister, Jazz, has also attained the prestigious rank of Royal Crown Council Ambassador (RCCA).

Having two RCCAs in the same family is more than an extraordinary achievement. It is living proof that BE International is truly a family business, where success can be built and shared across generations.

Like her brother, Jazz did not enjoy outstanding academic results. After completing secondary school, she entered the highly competitive traditional sales industry. Together, the siblings worked tirelessly and eventually became top-performing sales representatives in their company.

Their turning point came when seeking health supplements for their father's declining health. Witnessing the products' effectiveness and understanding BE's business opportunity, both siblings made the bold decision to embark on this new journey.

“In traditional sales, our income was limited despite hard work. Here, sharing products that truly benefit people allows your rewards to grow proportionally to your efforts,” Jazz reflects. She continued, “More importantly, BE offers products of exceptional quality, and we are the living proof of that.” Her family experienced the products' benefits firsthand. Their father's health improved significantly, strengthening their conviction that these products could genuinely change lives.

Guided by her brother's mentorship and supported by BE International's proven education system, Jazz continued to grow steadily, eventually building a strong and thriving network.

Breaking Free from a Predetermined Future

While Jazz's journey began in the world of traditional sales, her husband and business partner, Brian, came from an entirely different but equally humble background.

Born into a modest family of automotive mechanics in Kluang, Johor, Brian's education ended after Form Three. Without completing secondary school or obtaining a school-leaving certificate, he entered the workforce with little more than determination and a willingness to work hard. To earn a living, he commuted between Malaysia and Singapore, taking on various jobs before eventually partnering with his father to run a small car repair workshop.

Although his diligence ensured that the family never went hungry, the sight of grease-stained hands at the end of each day constantly reminded him of a deeper concern.

"I didn't have the qualifications to pursue better opportunities," Brian recalled. "I often wondered, Is this really going to be my life forever?" His worries extended beyond himself.

"My father was a mechanic, and I became one too. If my son struggled academically as I did, would he end up following the very same path? Was this cycle destined to repeat itself?" Those questions stayed with him for years.

Through Jazz, Brian met his mentor, See Kok Sen, who introduced him to network marketing. This transformed his perspective, showing him an opportunity independent of academic qualifications or background.

"I realised this was the opportunity I had been searching for all my life," Brian shared. "What impressed me most about BE International is that this business is open to everyone. It doesn't matter where you come from or what qualifications you have. If you're willing to work hard, success is possible."

Another factor that gave him confidence was BE International's comprehensive education and training system.

"You don't have to figure everything out on your own. The system has already been proven. All you need to do is stay coachable, follow the system wholeheartedly, and duplicate what has already been shown to work."

To Brian, this is one of BE International's greatest strengths. "It gives ordinary people an extraordinary opportunity to succeed."

Grateful for the Golden Opportunity of BE International

With patience and resilience, Brian and Jazz built their business step by step. Starting with no initial network, they developed their network through consistent effort and belief in the system.

However, their journey was not always smooth. When COVID-19 and the MCO disrupted operations, their network faced a sudden slowdown. Yet they held firmly to their belief: "The journey was never easy, but with the support of our partners, team, uplines, and mentors, we always found solutions and moved forward."

Today, as RCCA achievers, they remain deeply humble and grateful, believing that in a traditional career, hard work would never have yielded the financial freedom they now enjoy. BE International gave them the platform to rewrite their destiny.

They are grateful for BE's structured system and transparent reward mechanism, where results directly align with action and effort is rewarded accordingly.

For Brian and Jazz, their journey is living proof that background does not define destiny. With the right platform and a willingness to grow, anyone can build a different future.

And their message to others is simple, yet powerful: "We can. And so can you."
